

Tuesday's maths sheet. Exciting news- reports from the mock exam will be ready at lunchtime today. If anyone is feeling a bit down about their 11+ work not going brilliantly at the moment, you might like to know my driving lesson yesterday went so badly that, even though last week I got to drive in the sixty-mph zone and practice manoeuvres, my instructor had to take me for an extra slow "confidence building" drive, which was basically a tour of all the traffic-calming measures in Bishopdown Farm. So, sometimes things just go really wrong- feel the sympathy. Peace out, love from Rachel :)
