

Monday's maths sheet. As I write this on Sunday night, the weather forecast is for more snow tonight and tomorrow morning, so I will go to bed with my fingers crossed for everyone hoping for a day off work tomorrow! Although, BBC Weather assures me, tomorrow afternoon will be a toasty-warm three degrees Celsius (bikini weather, comparatively speaking) with a great big yellow sun, so I think that might be the time when it all melts. Love from Rachel :)
