

11+ Mock Exam

18th & 25th March and 1st April 2023

Number of children: 76
Number of boys: 32
Number of girls: 44
Prompt arrivals: 76
Arrivals more than 5 minutes late: 0
Distraught children: 0
Tearful children: 0
Children without pencils, rubbers etc: 2
Children who needed hankies: 11
Papers which scored 0% through not following instructions: 29 Ouch!
Children without snack or drink: 0
Toilet visits during the exams: 18
Disruptive children: 0

Some years ago I taught a girl who got about 72% overall and 84% in the Maths in this exam. Then complacency set in and as she got more rusty, avoidance and fear took over. She failed the actual 11+ and I am still bitter. She belonged at South Wilts Grammar School. To mix my metaphors: nothing is in the bag until the fat lady sings! (She is doing well where she is and I am proud to have taught her but you get my drift!)

Many children have made huge improvements in their work, and especially their approach to exams since the January Mocks: some hard lessons have been learnt. This week we managed to achieve 17 zeros, so there are some lessons still to be learnt!

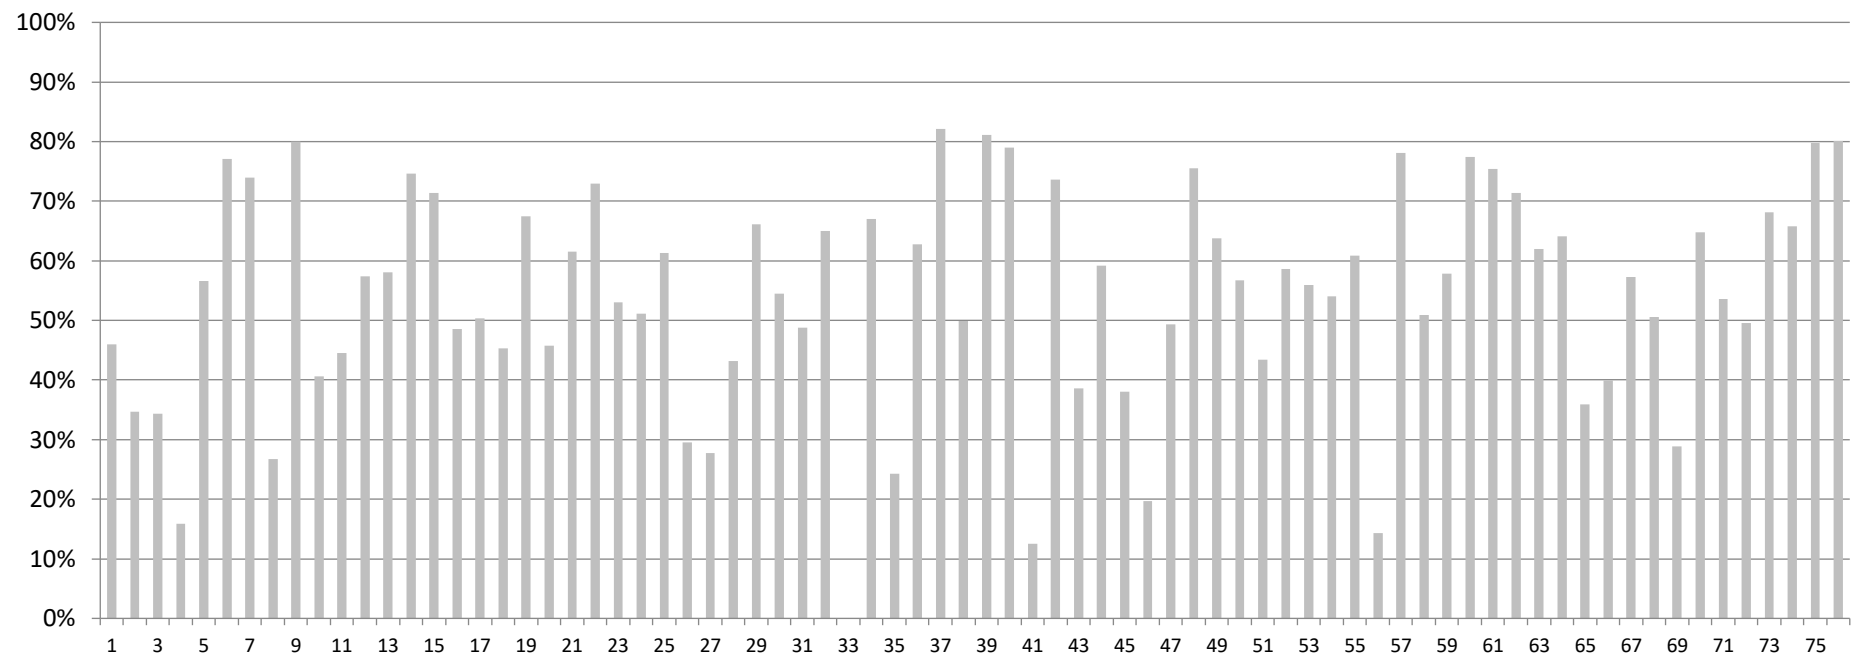

Many children have been watching the free Scholar's Videos. Looking at all the figures (internet statistics, year comparisons, individual comparisons and methods of doing the questions) this investment of effort is bearing fruit: thank you. I can see that they are following them in their written workings.

The Maths, English and Verbal Reasoning papers were held according to the GL guidelines (the people who will run South Wilts 11+). The Non-Verbal Reasoning (for Bishop Wordsworth) was conducted in short timed passages to replicate the change in style for the boys.

All of the children were a credit to their parents and moreover, they were good company. Thank you for sending them along.

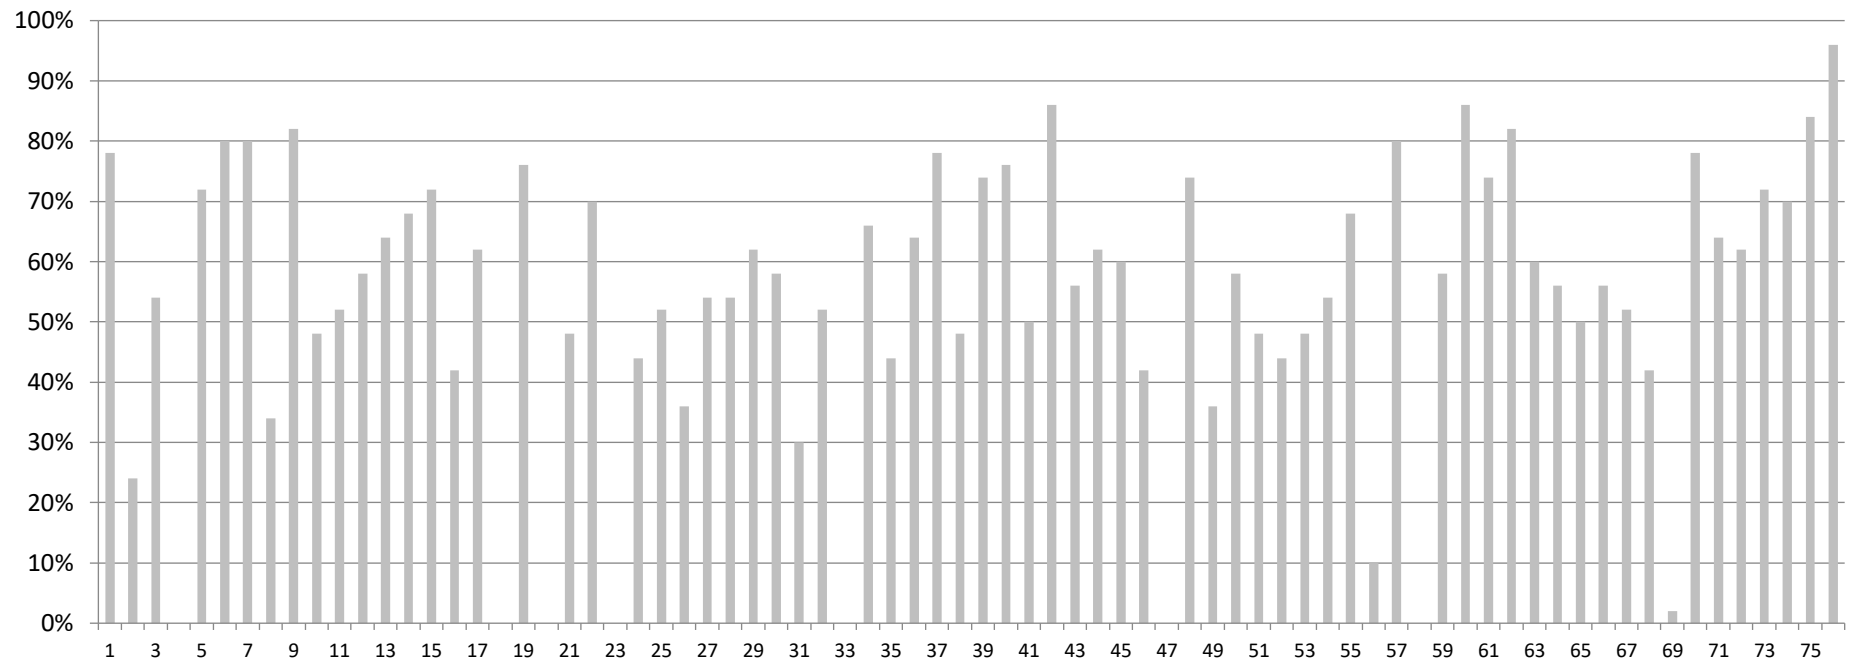

Overall Results

18th & 25th March and 1st April 2023

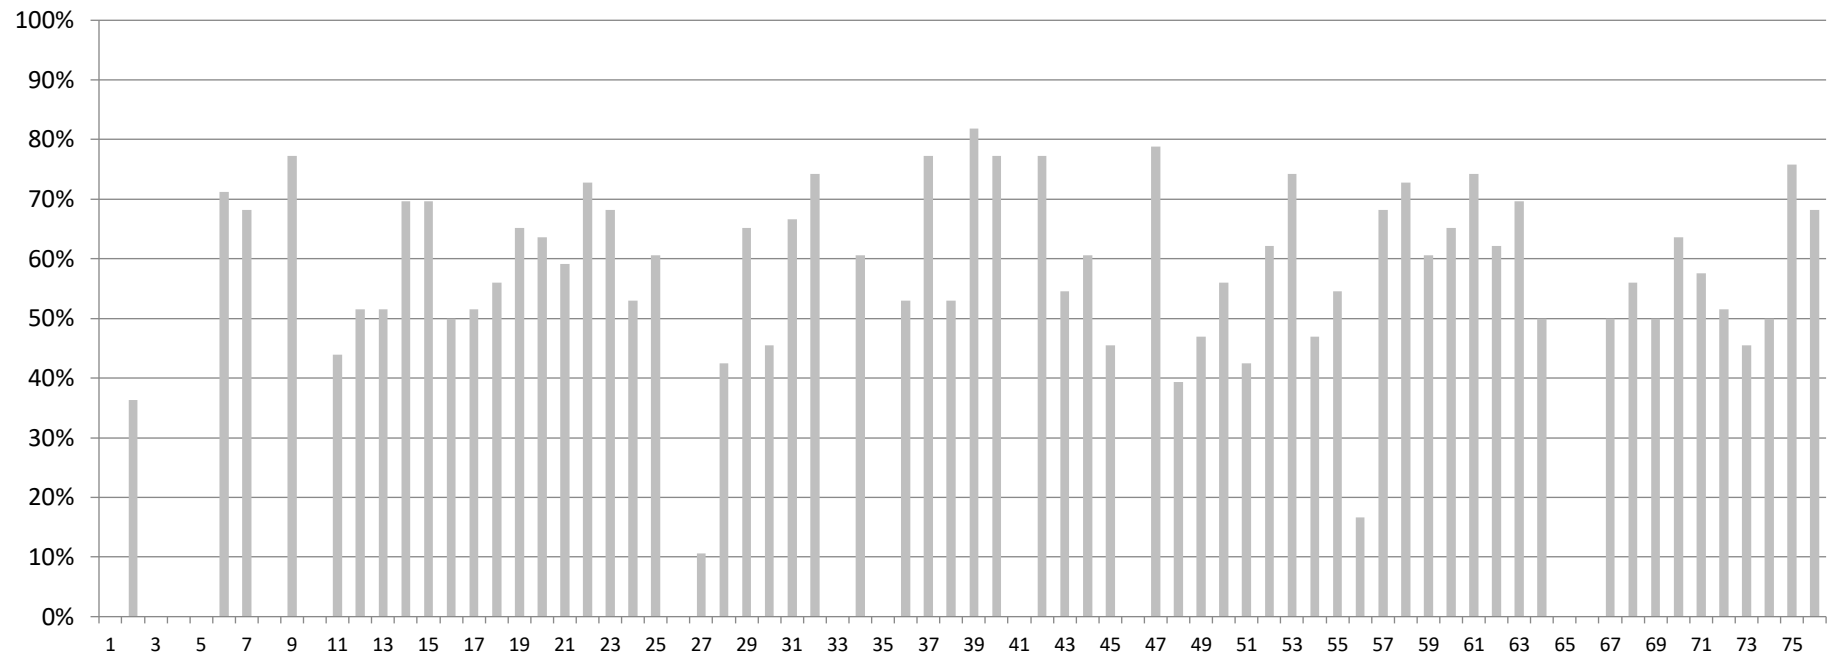

Maths Exam Results

18th & 25th March and 1st April 2023

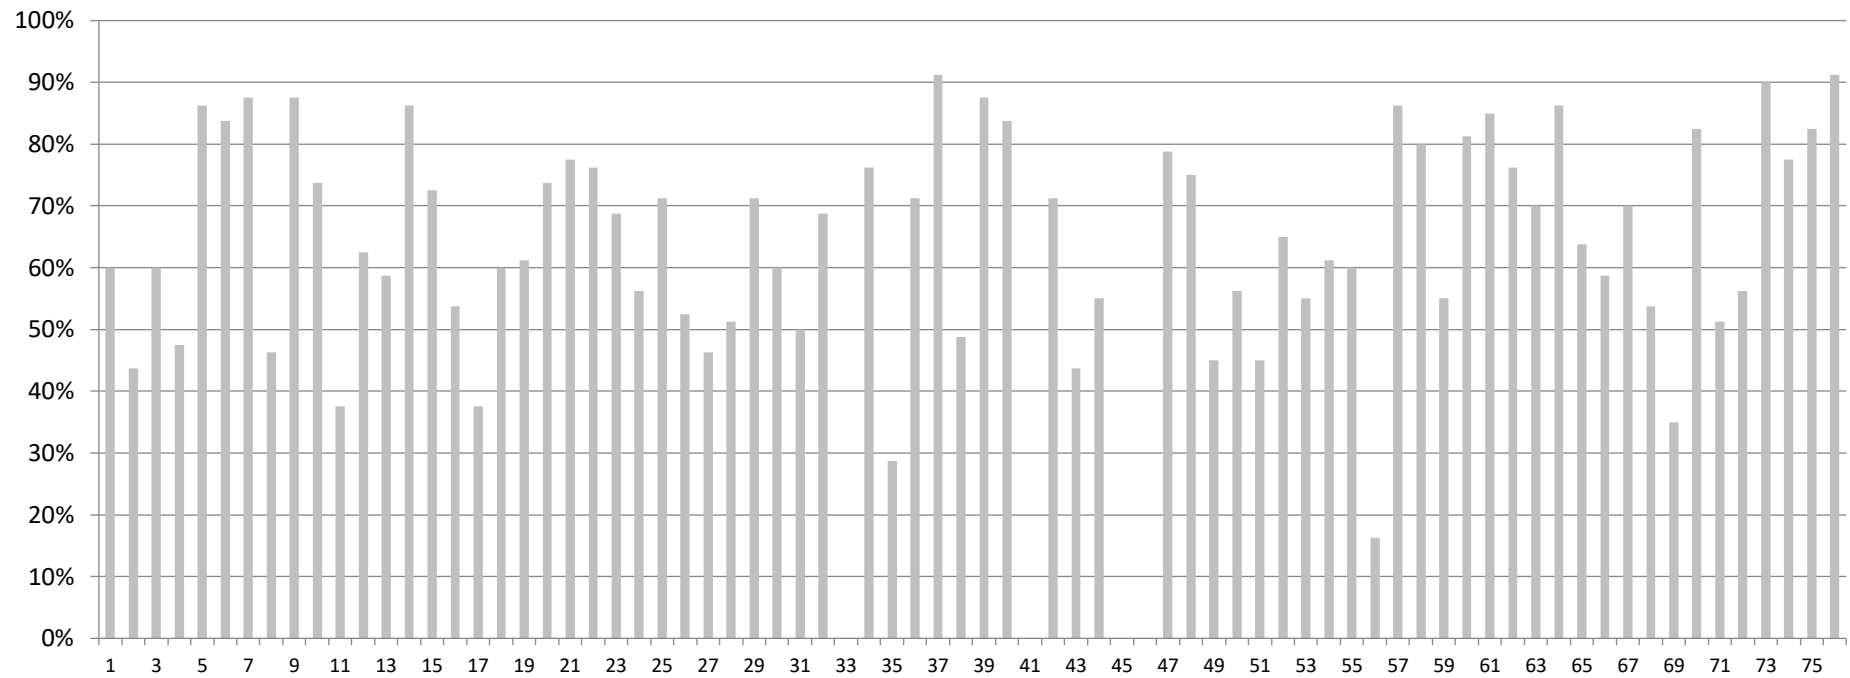

English Exam Results

18th & 25th March and 1st April 2023

Verbal Reasoning Exam Results

18th & 25th March and 1st April 2023

Non-Verbal Reasoning Exam Results

18th & 25th March and 1st April 2023

